1 A "°" following a place name indicates that the place is also a false MCD; the false MCD name is not shown.

2 In 1990, the crews of vessels populated by ships at sea was allocated to census tracts with a "99" suffix. An anchor symbol appeared on the 1990 maps locating a crew- or vessel tract. These maps show a very small area symbolized as a census tract with the census tract number shown near the area.

The diagram illustrates the mapping of a physical feature (Road) to a semantic feature (Stream/Shareline) through a series of intermediate features (Physical Feature, River, Ocean). The diagram shows a sequence of boxes: Road, Physical Feature, River, Ocean, and Stream/Shareline. Arrows indicate the flow from Road to Physical Feature, then to River, then to Ocean, and finally to Stream/Shareline. A legend below the boxes identifies the symbols used: a line for Road, a wavy line for Physical Feature, a blue line for River, a blue wavy line for Ocean, and a blue wavy line for Stream/Shareline.

Where international, state, and/or county boundaries coincide, the map shows the boundary symbol for only the highest-ranking of these boundaries.

<sup>2</sup> In 1990, the crews-of-vessels population of ships at sea was allocated to census tracts with a '99' suffix. An anchor symbol appeared on the 1990 maps locating a crews-of-vessel tract. All legal boundaries and names as of January 1, 1990 as tabulated for the Public Law 94-171 and Summary Tape File products. The boundaries also reflect the feature network and coordinates as of the Census 2000 geographic base. Since 1990 the Census Bureau updated the base from the North American Datum of 1927 (NAD27) to the datum as of 1983 (NAD83) and made numerous updates to the base features from those depicted in 1990. The boundaries shown on this map are for the Census Bureau's statistical data collection and tabulation purposes only; their depiction and designation for statistical purposes does not constitute a determination of jurisdictional authority or rights or ownership or entitlement.
